ABOUT ME

I am a front-end developer in search of professional experience in IT. Specialized in React, and with knowledge in back-end, I am interested in deploying scalable and user-friendly projects, taking into account UX strategies. My current English level is B2, while I continue to improve. I would like to be part of a working team, surrounded by more experienced individuals to help achieve objectives, and at the same time, continue learning new tools and technologies constantly.
